REQUEST TO INCLUDE ITEM ON AGENDA

Board or Committee: Personnel & Finance Committee

Date of Meeting: Tuesday – October 20th, 2020

Request by: Finance Director Kathy Unertl

Describe below the item(s) you wish to have put on the agenda:
(please attach any pertinent information):

Review and discuss potential revenue options for 2021 budget and future years:

Not included in following information:

- City of Rhinelander implemented Premier Resort Area Tax (PRAT) effective January 1st, 2017 for Streets infrastructure. City of Tomahawk had an April 2018 referendum on potential PRAT.

There are many steps required to potentially implement PRAT which the City of Merrill does not meet the State of Wisconsin criteria.

- Wheel Tax – which might now require a referendum to implement.

Included in the following information:

- Fee Revenue for certain services, including:
 - Fire Protection Service
 - Recycling
- Referendum Options
- Transportation Utility

League of Wisconsin Municipalities Website:

Levy Limits and Fee Revenues for Certain Services:

The levy limit law requires a municipality to reduce its allowable levy by the estimated amount of fee revenue it collects for providing garbage collection, fire protection, snow plowing, street sweeping, or storm water management if those services were funded in 2013 by the property tax levy. Similarly, a municipality must reduce its allowable levy by any payment in lieu of taxes it receives that is designated to pay for any of the 5 services listed above if the service was funded in 2013 by the levy.

Water utility related fees for the production, storage, transmission, sale and delivery of water for public fire protection purposes are exempted from this provision. Such fees are not considered "fire protection" service fees that result in a reduction in the community's allowable levy. This allows communities to shift from using the levy to pay the fire hydrant rental fee to directly charging utility customers without having to reduce the community's allowable levy.

A municipality need not reduce its allowable levy by the amount of fee revenue or PILOTs it receives if the voters approve in a referendum a resolution stating that the community's levy limit does not need to be reduced when the community converts to paying for the service by a fee

Finance Director Kathy Unertl Comments:

Shifting the remaining Public Fire Protection Fee of $125,150 to Water Bill is one option now available without State of Wisconsin requirement to lower Tax Levy. See following information on how currently paid and the Wisconsin Public Service Commission Rate Order.

City of Merrill - Public Fire Protection Service

Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) charge for having fire hydrants and water available for fire protection. Beginning in 2010, part of public fire protection service shifted to Water Bills (instead of all to Property Tax).

Charging or Increasing Recycling Fees Does Not Impact a Community's Levy Limit

Curt Witynski, J.D., Deputy Executive Director, League of Wisconsin Municipalities

As the market for most recycled material is drying up and prices have plummeted, many municipalities are struggling to fund recycling programs. What options do municipalities have to pay for the cost of recycling, which is mandated by state law, when recycling programs are unable to recover as much of the cost from the sale of recyclables as in the past? Municipalities across the state are dealing with this question. The City of Waukesha, for example, was recently informed by the county that its share of revenue from the county's sale of recycled materials may drop by $300,000 next year.

Levy limits make it difficult for communities to turn to the property tax to fill the budget hole caused by reduced earnings from the sale of recyclables. However, one option municipalities may want to consider, which would not affect a community's allowable levy, is charging or increasing an existing fee for collecting recyclables. Wisconsin municipalities have broad authority under Wis. Stat. sec. 66.0627 to charge for services like recycling. The state's recycling law clearly contemplates municipalities and other responsible units may charge for recycling services and many communities do. See, for example, Wis. Stat. sec. 287.093 (Recycling Fee Liens).

While it is true that if a municipality adopts a new fee or a fee increase for garbage collection services (which were partly or wholly funded in 2013 by property tax levy), the municipality must reduce its levy limit by the amount of revenue from the new fee or fee increase. This requirement does not apply to recycling fees. The Department of Revenue (DOR), which oversees municipal compliance with the levy limit law, interprets the term "garbage collection" in Wis. Stat. sec. 66.0602(2m)(b), to not include recycling.¹ Therefore, if a community adopts a new recycling fee or increases an existing recycling fee, there is no requirement that it reduce its levy limit by the amount of recycling fee revenue it collects.

Funding Streets through Transportation Utility Fees

By: Curt Witynski, J.D., Deputy Executive Director
 Claire Silverman, Legal Counsel
 Maria Davis, Assistant Legal Counsel

Wisconsin municipalities are searching for alternative ways to pay for essential services like street maintenance and other transportation services. One reason is lack of adequate funding to pay for those services. Although Wisconsin municipalities' main source of revenue is the property tax, Wisconsin local governments have operated under the strictest property tax levy limits in the country for nearly a decade. Moreover, the State expressly prohibits municipalities from imposing other taxes such as a sales tax (with extremely limited exceptions) and local income taxes. At the same time, funding for state aid programs, such as shared revenue, has been flat or decreasing for years. State transportation aids currently cover, on average, sixteen percent (16%) of city and village transportation-related costs.

In addition to lack of funding, some municipal leaders have concluded that paying for street improvements through special assessments imposed on abutting property owners is inequitable and places a disproportionate burden on property owners for improvements that benefit the area or community in general. Substantial assessments can jeopardize the ability of some residents (e.g., those living on fixed or limited incomes) to remain in their homes.

As a result of these factors, some municipalities are turning to alternative revenue options like local vehicle registration fees and transportation utility fees to pay for street maintenance and other transportation services. Several League members have requested the League's legal opinion on whether Wisconsin municipalities may create transportation utilities and charge property owners transportation utility fees.

We conclude that a municipality may rely on its broad statutory and/or constitutional home rule powers to create a transportation utility and charge property owners transportation utility fees. Alternatively, a municipality may charge property owners a street maintenance user fee under Wis. Stat. § 66.0627. Any fee must be reasonably related to the cost of the services provided. The League suggests that a transportation utility fee is most defensible against challenge if the basis for the fee is closely related to property occupants' use of the local street network. It is the League's opinion that transportation utility fees with such a basis are accurately characterized as fees and not taxes. Such fees should be segregated and used only for street maintenance and other transportation services. To avoid needing to reduce the community's property tax levy under § 66.0602(2m)(b) of the levy limit law, municipalities should avoid using transportation utility fee revenue to pay for snow plowing or street sweeping.

Sources of Authority for Transportation Utility Fees

While no state statute expressly authorizes Wisconsin communities to create transportation utilities and charge transportation utility fees, Wisconsin municipalities have broad authority to create, manage, and finance utilities. Transportation utility fees are financing mechanisms that treat the community's street network and other transportation services like a utility. Residents and businesses are charged fees based on their use of the transportation system, analogous to how municipalities provide and pay for water, sewer, electric and stormwater services.

In the state's early years, no statutes existed expressly authorizing cities and villages to own and operate water, sewer, or other common municipal utilities. Instead, municipalities relied on non-specific, broad police power authority to create and fund such now-familiar utilities. Similarly, in the early 1990s, municipalities like Appleton, Glendale, and Eau Claire initially relied on their broad police power authority to create stormwater utilities and charge property owners stormwater fees based on the amount of impervious surface on the property. Cities over 10,000 in population began to charge such fees to help pay for the cost of complying with new state regulations requiring the removal of pollutants from stormwater. Only later did the Legislature add language to the predecessor of Wis. Stat. § 66.0681 expressly confirming municipal authority to create stormwater utilities and stormwater fees. See 1997 Wis. Act 53, which took effect January 9, 1998.

Notably, the Wisconsin Supreme Court determined fairly early that Wisconsin municipalities do not need explicit statutory authorization to create a municipally-owned utility. In 1895, the Court held that "it is not necessary to seek an expressed delegation of power to the city to build a water works and an electric lighting plant, because the power expressly granted to the city to pass ordinances for the preservation of the public health and general welfare includes the power to use the usual means of carrying out such powers, which includes municipal water and lighting services."¹ Similarly, a general grant of authority to act for the public health or general welfare is adequate legal authority today for Wisconsin cities and villages to create, operate, and finance through user charges, a transportation utility.

Statutory Home Rule Authority

Wisconsin cities and villages are vested by the state legislature with broad general police powers. The general city charter law, chapter 62, gives cities the "largest measure of self-government compatible with the constitution and general law." Wis. Stat. § 62.04. Wisconsin Stat. § 62.11(5), the general authority statute for city councils, provides:

Except as elsewhere in the statutes specifically provided, the council shall have the management and control of the city property, finances, highways, navigable waters, and the public service, and shall have power to act for the government and good order of the city, for its commercial benefit, and for the health, safety, and welfare of the public, and may carry out its powers by license, regulation, suppression, borrowing of money, tax levy, appropriation, fine, imprisonment, confiscation, and other necessary or convenient means. The powers hereby conferred shall be in addition to all other grants, and shall be limited only by express language.

The Legislature has directed courts to liberally construe this provision “in favor of the rights, powers and privileges of cities to promote the general welfare, peace, good order and prosperity of such cities and the inhabitants thereof.” Wis. Stat. § 62.04.

A virtually identical grant of authority is provided to Wisconsin village boards by Wis. Stat. § 61.34(1). That authority is also to be liberally construed in favor of “the rights, powers and privileges of villages to promote the general welfare, peace, good order and prosperity of such villages and the inhabitants thereof” to give villages the largest measure of self government compatible with the Wisconsin constitution. Wis. Stat. § 61.34(5).

These grants of power to cities and villages are substantial and give the governing body of a city or village “all the powers that the legislature could by any possibility confer upon it.” Hack v. Mineral Point, 203 Wis. 215, 219, 233 N.W. 82 (1931). These provisions are sufficient on their face to authorize city councils and village boards to create a municipal transportation utility and charge property owners transportation utility fees.

However, these broad powers are not absolute. Home rule powers granted by §§ 62.11(5) and 61.34(1) are constrained if the state has preempted municipal authority in a particular area. Statutory home rule powers may not be exercised if: the legislature has expressly withdrawn the power of municipalities to act; municipal action would logically conflict with state legislation; municipal action would defeat the purpose of state legislation; or, municipal action would go against the spirit of state legislation. See Anchor Savings & Loan Ass’n v. Equal Opportunities Comm’n, 120 Wis. 2d 391, 355 N.W.2d 234 (1984); DeRosso Landfill Co. v. City of Oak Creek, 200 Wis. 2d 642, 651, 547 N.W.2d 770 (1996). Nonetheless, municipalities may enact ordinances in the same field and on the same subject covered by state legislation where such ordinances do not conflict with, but rather complement, the state legislation. Johnston v. City of Sheboygan, 30 Wis. 2d 179, 184, 140 N.W.2d 247 (1966).

Municipalities are not preempted in the area of creating transportation utilities and charging transportation fees. In applying the above preemption tests to creating a transportation utility and charging transportation user fees, the State has not expressly prohibited communities from creating such a utility and imposing such fees. Indeed, the state has not entered the field of municipal transportation finance other than to explicitly authorize certain methods of funding transportation infrastructure improvements such as through the levying of special assessments under Wis. Stat. § 66.0703, imposing special charges for current services under Wis. Stat. § 66.0627, and charging local vehicle registration fees under Wis. Stat. § 341.35.²

The State has also created and funded several aid programs to assist local governments with transportation costs, including the General Transportation Aids and the Local Road Improvement programs. None of these grants of authority and financial assistance programs impliedly preempt municipal authority to create a transportation utility and charge property owners a transportation user fee. Indeed, the statute authorizing special charges for current services expressly provides “The authority under this section is in addition to any other method provided by law.” Wis. Stat. § 66.0627(2). Similarly, the special assessment authority granted pursuant to § 66.0703 expressly states that it is a “complete alternative” to other methods provided by law. Wis. Stat. § 66.0703(1)(a). Likewise, we are not aware of any statutory provisions that creation of a transportation utility would logically conflict with, defeat the purpose of, or go against the spirit of. Although there is an argument that Wis. Stat. § 66.0907 preempts municipalities from using transportation utility fees to finance sidewalk construction and repair because it specifies certain ways in which municipalities may cover expenses associated with sidewalks, we believe the stronger argument is that municipalities can use alternative means for financing sidewalks, such as transportation utility fees, because the language in § 66.0907 regarding financing options is permissive rather than mandatory.

The exercise of home rule authority under §§ 62.11(5) or 61.34(5) must also serve a legitimate public purpose. This is usually not a significant bar to action because Wisconsin courts have adopted a very expansive view of public purpose. See State ex rel. Hammermill Paper Co. v. La Plante, 58 Wis. 2d 32, 55, 205 N.W.2d 784 (1973). (“Public purpose is not a static concept. The trend of both legislative enactments and judicial decisions is to extend the concept of public purposes in considering the demands upon municipal governments to provide for the needs of the citizens.”) Examples of public purposes that may be served by creating a transportation utility and imposing a user fee include protecting the health, safety and general welfare of the public as well as acting for the municipality’s commercial benefit by ensuring the fiscal ability to safely maintain municipal transportation systems and improve such systems to accommodate and facilitate economic growth. Funding and maintaining a transportation system is critically important to a community’s economy, tourism, and ability to attract and retain people and jobs. A well-maintained street network is also vital to ensuring that municipal emergency services can quickly and efficiently access commercial buildings and residences throughout the community.

Constitutional Home Rule Authority

A city or village may also rely on its constitutional home rule authority to create a transportation utility and charge transportation user fees. This authority is found in Article XI, Sec. 3 of the Wisconsin Constitution, which provides:

Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law may determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of statewide concern as with uniformity shall affect every city or every village.

The method of exercising such authority is specified in Wis. Stat. § 66.0101 and requires enacting a charter ordinance.

A charter ordinance exercising home rule authority is preempted if it conflicts with an existing state law that applies to all cities and villages. Black v. City of Milwaukee, 2016 WI 47, 369 Wis. 2d 272, 882 N.W.2d 333. However, no state law prohibits municipalities from creating transportation utilities and imposing transportation utility fees. For example, there are no state laws requiring communities to fund local transportation systems in a specific and exclusive way, precluding other options, such as a user fee. Similarly, no statute limits the type of utilities a municipality may create or the types of user fees it may charge. Indeed, the Legislature has chosen not to prohibit communities from charging transportation utility fees even though several municipalities, like the City of Neenah, Village of Harrison, and Village of Weston, along with the Town of Buchanan have implemented such fees in recent years.

Special Charges for Current Services

In addition to the statutory and constitutional home rule powers mentioned above, Wis. Stat. § 66.0627 provides authority for a municipality to charge property owners for municipal transportation-related services. Under § 66.0627(2), a municipal governing body may impose a special charge against real property for current services rendered by allocating all or part of the cost to the properties served. The statutory definition of “services” includes transportation maintenance activities like “street sprinkling, oiling, and tarring” and repair of sidewalks, curb and gutter. The definition of “services” is not an exclusive list. The examples given are not meant to limit its application in any way, but merely to highlight possible uses. Rusk v. City of Milwaukee, 2007 WI App 7, ¶ 17, 298 Wis. 2d 407, 727 N.W.2d 358.

Fees for current services are not invalidated merely because a property does not use the service. In City of River Falls v. St. Bridget’s Catholic Church, 182 Wis.2d 436, 512 N.W.2d 673 (Ct. App. 1994), the Wisconsin court of appeals held that charging user fees for making water available for fire protection services was valid, even though the party charged the fee had not used the water. Services under § 66.0627 can be rendered within a district and need not be performed for specific, individual properties. In Grace Episcopal Church v. City of Madison, 129 Wis. 2d 331, 385 N.W.2d 200 (Ct. App. 1986), the court of appeals upheld service charges imposed under a predecessor to § 66.0627 (Wis. Stat. § 66.60(16)) on all properties within the State Street Mall and Capitol Concourse district, not just those abutting the pedestrian mall and concourse. The services the city provided to the district included lawn, tree, and shrub care, snow removal from walks and crosswalks, trash clean up and removal, and bus shelter and fixture maintenance. The city charged a portion of the annual cost of providing such services against property owners adjacent to or near the State Street Mall and Capitol Concourse. Municipalities may, therefore, rely on § 66.0627 to charge all property owners in a community a fee for current maintenance of the community’s street network even though not all properties being charged actually abut the streets being reconstructed or maintained with the fee revenue at any one time. The fact that the entire transportation system is being maintained is sufficient to charge all property owners using the system a fee for current services rendered under § 66.0627.

Fees must Reasonably Relate to Costs

Whether a community relies on its broad statutory or constitutional home rule authority or § 66.0627, a transportation utility fee must bear a reasonable relationship to the service for which it is being charged. Wis. Stat. § 66.0628. That is, the fee amount that a community charges a property owner may not exceed the municipality’s reasonable direct costs associated with activities the community takes related to the fee. Wis. Stat. § 66.0628(1).

In addition, the fee amount that any property owner pays should reasonably relate to how much the property’s occupants use the transportation system. According to an expert on the use of transportation utility fees in the U.S., a transportation utility fee with a basis that is most closely related to actual use of the street network has the greatest chances of successful implementation and withstanding critical scrutiny by a court or a tax appeals commission.³ A transportation utility fee is most appropriate if its basis is closely related to property occupants' use of the local street network and is sensitive to local context and individual variation.⁴ For example, a commercial business that generates a high amount of traffic may be charged a higher fee than a one-car household based on the different usage rates of a municipality's transportation system.

Generally, municipalities establish a more convincing link between transportation infrastructure usage and user fee charges when they base their transportation utility fee on the number of trips generated by the property. That is why, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation Federal Highway Administration, Center for Innovative Finance Support, most transportation utility fee programs in the United States use trip generation rates prepared by the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE).⁵

Fees v. Taxes.

Transportation utility fees are susceptible to challenge if the fees resemble an unauthorized tax. The primary difference between a tax and a fee is the source of the municipality's power and, more importantly, the municipality's purpose in imposing the payment requirement. The Wisconsin Court of Appeals explained the primary difference between a tax and fee as follows in Bentivenga v. City of Delavan, 2014 WI App 118, ¶ 6, 358 Wis. 2d 610, 856 N.W.2d 546:

A tax is an “enforced proportional contribution[] from persons and property” levied to support a government and its needs. State ex rel. Bldg. Owners & Managers Ass'n v. Adamany, 64 Wis.2d 280, 289, 219 N.W.2d 274 (1974) (citation omitted). The purpose, and not the name it is given, determines whether a government charge constitutes a tax. City of Milwaukee v. Milwaukee & Suburban Transp. Corp., 6 Wis.2d 299, 305-06, 94 N.W.2d 584 (1959). “[T]he primary purpose of a tax is to obtain revenue for the government” as opposed to covering the expense of providing certain services or regulation. City of River Falls v. St. Bridget's Catholic Church of River Falls, 182 Wis. 2d 436, 441-42, 513 N.W.2d 673 (Ct.App.1994). A “fee” imposed purely for revenue purposes is invalid absent permission from the state to the municipality to exact such a fee. Milwaukee & Suburban Transp., 6 Wis. 2d at 306, 94 N.W.2d 584.

Municipal taxing power in Wisconsin is very limited. A municipality cannot impose a tax unless it is specifically authorized by the Legislature. Wisconsin municipalities are authorized to impose only property taxes and room taxes. (Six communities statewide are authorized to levy a sales tax on tourism-related retail sales under the Premier Resort Area tax laws. Wis. Stat. § 66.1113). In contrast, municipal fees are charged to cover the costs of specific services provided or the costs associated with regulating in a specific area.

As discussed above, a transportation utility fee would be imposed under a community’s statutory or constitutional home rule powers or as a special charge for current services under § 66.0627. A transportation utility fee would not be implemented pursuant to a community’s power to levy general property taxes under Wis. Stat. Chap. 70.

The Wisconsin Court of Appeals addressed service charges and their relation to general property taxes under the predecessor statute to Wis. Stat. § 66.0627 in Grace Episcopal Church v. City of Madison, 129 Wis. 2d 331, 385 N.W.2d 200 (Ct. App. 1986). The court held that since the services provided were authorized by the Legislature by the predecessor to Wis. Stat. § 66.0627, the service charges were not general property taxes and the property tax exemption provided to churches by Wis. Stat. § 70.11(4) did not exempt the church from paying the fees. Grace Episcopal, 129 Wis. 2d at 335.

In contrast to the general property tax, the purpose of a transportation utility fee is exclusively to help pay for the cost of a specific governmental service, street maintenance.

A review of case law and scholarly literature on transportation utility fees suggests best practices that municipal officials can implement to avoid having a transportation utility fee ruled an illegal tax:

1. Place all transportation utility fee revenue in a separate fund used only on street maintenance and other transportation projects. Emerson College v. City of Boston, 462 N.E.2d 1098 (Mass. 1984).
2. Collect the transportation utility fee in the same manner as the community does other municipal utility fees by including the amounts on property owners’ utility bills alongside sewer, water, and stormwater service charges.
3. Ensure the formula used to calculate fees is as accurate as possible. Over-generalization of fee-paying entities and ignoring real differences in their use of the street network or end-trip generation gives the fee strong tax-like characteristics. Clintonville Road Maintenance and Transportation Utility Fee, Andrew Robert Eveland (2019).

4. Transportation utility fee policies should avoid exempting tax-exempt properties as this gives the fee the appearance of being a tax. For the same reason, such policies should exempt undeveloped properties and vacant buildings. Clintonville Road Maintenance and Transportation Utility Fee, Andrew Robert Eveland (2019).
5. To the extent practicable, a transportation utility fee policy should include a process by which users are permitted to demonstrate reduced use of the street system to qualify for a lower fee. (e.g., Austin, Texas transportation utility fee ordinance allows residents who do not own or regularly use a motor vehicle to opt out of fee; Corpus Christi, Texas likewise has a process by which property applicants may appeal their fee level). A TUF Sell: Transportation Utility Fee as User Fees for Local Roads and Streets, by Carole Turley Voulgaris, Public Works Management & Policy 2016 Vol. 4.

Avoiding Levy Limit Consequences

The levy limit law requires a municipality to reduce its allowable levy by the estimated amount of fee revenue it collects for providing certain listed services, including snow plowing and street sweeping, if those services were funded in 2013 in part or whole by the property tax levy. Wis. Stat. § 66.0602(2m)(b). To avoid having this statute apply, a community that imposes a transportation utility fee to help pay for street maintenance and other transportation services, must not use the fee revenue to pay for snow plowing or street sweeping services.

Conclusion

Wisconsin cities and villages struggling to pay for the cost of maintaining quality streets and other transportation services residents and businesses demand, may rely on their broad statutory or constitutional home rule powers or, alternatively, Wis. Stat. § 66.0627, to charge property owners transportation utility fees. Such fees must be reasonably related to the cost of the services provided. Transportation utility fees are most defensible against a challenge if the basis for the fee is closely related to how much a property's occupants use the local street network. It is possible to design a transportation utility fee policy that is defensible against a challenge that the fee is more like an illegal tax. Finally, to avoid needing to reduce the community's property tax levy, municipalities should not use transportation utility fee revenue to pay for snow plowing or street sweeping.

League of Wisconsin Municipalities Website:

Referendum Option:

Levies can be increased above the allowable limits if the amount is approved by referendum. The governing body must adopt a resolution specifying the proposed amount of increase in the levy beyond the amount that is allowed and stating whether the proposed increase is for the next levy only or if it will apply on an ongoing basis. The resolution must also specify the purpose of the levy increase. The resolution must then be submitted to the electors for a vote.

Timing of Referendum

With regard to the 2020 levy, collected in 2021, a municipality may hold a referendum to exceed the levy limits only after it learns what its allowable levy increase is from Department of Revenue. Department of Revenue staff has concluded that a community must know what its allowable levy increase is (i.e., the percentage increase in equalized value because of net new construction) before it can conduct a levy limit referendum. Communities won't learn the net new construction number until August 1 at the earliest. So, practically speaking, the earliest a municipality can schedule a referendum relating to the 2020 levy is the general election in November.

Sample Resolution

A sample resolution for exceeding the levy limit is posted under Legal FAQs 8.

League of Wisconsin Municipalities Website:

Taxation FAQ 8 - Referendum:

What process must a municipality follow to obtain permission from the electorate to exceed the state-imposed property tax levy limit?

The state law imposing a property tax levy limit on municipalities, Wis. Stat. sec. 66.0602, provides that the levy limit may be exceeded if the governing body approves a resolution to that effect and the resolution is approved by voters at a referendum. The process is set out in sec. 66.0602(4).

Timing of Referendum. In even numbered years, a levy limit referendum may be held at the spring primary or election or partisan primary or election. In any odd-numbered year, a municipality may call a special referendum on the same dates as when a school board may call for a referendum. Current statutes limit school board referenda to the next regularly scheduled spring primary or election or partisan primary or general election following the adoption of a resolution, except that a referendum may not be held sooner than 70 days after the filing of the resolution. [s. 121.91 (3), Stats.]

Wording of the Resolution. The resolution must specify: 1) the proposed amount of increase in the municipal levy beyond the amount that is allowed (a municipality may use its best estimate of its valuation factor, i.e., its net new construction number, which is its allowable levy increase); 2) the purpose for which the increase will be used, and 3) whether the proposed amount of increase is for the next fiscal year only or if it will apply for a certain number of years or on an ongoing basis.

Notices. The law requires that the municipal clerk publish type A, B, C, D, and E notices of the referendum under s. 10.01 (2). Section 5.01 (1) applies in the event of failure to comply with these notice requirements.

The referendum must be held in accordance with Chapters 5 to 12 of the Wisconsin Statutes. The municipality must provide the election officials with all necessary election supplies. The form of the ballot must correspond substantially with the standard form for referendum ballots under ss. 5.64 (2) and 7.08 (1) (a).

Ballot Question. The question placed on the ballot must read as follows:

"Under state law, the increase in the levy of the (name of political subdivision) for the tax to be imposed for the next fiscal year, (year), is limited to% (based on actual data or the political subdivision's best estimate), which results in a levy of $.... Shall the (name of political subdivision) be allowed to exceed this limit and increase the levy for the next fiscal year, (year), for (purpose for which the increase will be used), by a total of% (based on actual data or the political subdivision's best estimate), which results in a levy of $....?"

If the increase is for the next fiscal year only, the question shall include the percentage increase in the levy from the previous year's levy and, if the increase is on an ongoing basis, the question shall include the amount of the increase for each fiscal year for which the increase applies.

Note: If the increase is for one year only, the amount of the increase shall be subtracted from the base used to calculate the limit for the 2nd succeeding fiscal year. Also, if the intent is for the levy limit increase to be ongoing, DOR recommends the following approach: The ballot question provides space to list the actual fiscal years to which the tax levy increase would apply. This is where municipalities and counties may state "ongoing" if it will be ongoing. See the example below:

"Under state law, the increase in the levy of the Village of Bucky for the tax to be imposed for the next fiscal year, 2021, is limited to 2%, which results in a levy of $150,000. Shall the Village of Bucky be allowed to exceed this limit and increase the levy for the next fiscal year, 2021, and on an ongoing basis, for the purpose of additional police protection services, by a total of 25%, which results in a levy of $187,500?"

Notifying DOR. Within 14 days after the referendum, the municipal clerk must certify the referendum results to the department of revenue. The levy increase limit otherwise applicable to the municipality is increased in the next fiscal year by the percentage approved by a majority of those voting on the question. If the resolution specifies that the increase is for one year only, the amount of the increase shall be subtracted from the base used to calculate the limit for the 2nd succeeding fiscal year.

A sample resolution for exceeding a municipality's levy limit is set forth below:

Sample Resolution for Exceeding the State Imposed Levy Limit

Whereas, the State of Wisconsin has imposed limits on town, village, city and county property tax levies under Wis. Stat. sec. 66.0602; and

Whereas, Wis. Stat. sec. 66.0602 limits the increase in 2020 to the local property tax levy to no more than the greater of (a) 0% of last year's actual levy or (b) a percentage equal to the percentage change in equalized value due to new construction less improvements removed; which for the Village of _____ is (estimated) to be _____ percent; and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of the Village of _____, _____ County believes it is in the village's best interest to exceed the state levy limit as described above by a greater percentage than _____ {Note: here insert the option that applies to your village (a) 0% or (b) percentage of new construction less improvements removed, if greater than 0%} for the purpose of _____ (e.g., accomplishing critical street maintenance projects, maintaining or expanding public safety services, expanded library services, etc.); and

Whereas, the Village of _____ actual levy in 2019 (collected in 2020) was $ _____; and state law would limit the increase to $ _____ for a total allowable 2020 (collected in 2021) village tax levy of $ _____.

Now, Therefore the Board of Trustees of the Village of _____,

_____ County does hereby resolve and order as follows:

The village board hereby supports an increase in the village tax levy for 2020 (to be collected in 2021) to exceed the state levy limit. {Note: If the governing body intends that the levy increase applies on an ongoing basis, it should insert the following sentence here: The village board intends that the levy increase be applied on an ongoing basis by including it in the base used to calculate the limit for 2021 as well}. The purpose for which the increased levy will be used is _____ (e.g. accomplishing critical street maintenance projects, maintaining or expanding public safety services, expanded library services, etc.)

The village board directs that the question of increasing the village tax levy for 2020 (to be collected in 2021) by _____ percent, which would increase the village levy by $ _____ (insert dollar amount of proposed increase) over the past year's levy, for a village tax levy of $ _____ (insert total dollar amount of proposed village tax levy for 2020), the increase to be used for _____ (e.g., accomplishing critical street maintenance projects, maintaining or expanding public safety services, expanded library services, etc.) shall be submitted to the electors in a referendum at a special referendum election to be held on _____, _____, 2020.

Adopted this _____ day of _____, 2_____.

CITY ATTORNEYREPORT FOR OCTOBER 2020

FESTIVAL GROUNDS: There are a couple flu shot clinics for kids that will be operating on the Festival Grounds this month. A few inquiries have been coming in for rentals, unfortunately we are still unable to schedule them.

MUNICIPAL COURT: Merrill and Tomahawk Municipal Court are both proceeding smoothly. Resolved one contentious matter, with another one coming up in Tomahawk.

NEGOTIATIONS: Rural fire contract negotiations are continuing. Relayed City's offer as authorized. Still waiting for a response.

SEMINARS: Am attending every week, virtually, the OWI Seminar sponsored by the Attorney General's Office. No drastic changes for 1st offense OWI prosecutions, but some penalty changes for criminal OWI's.

Will be attending, virtually, an election law seminar sponsored by the State Bar of Wisconsin. Focus will be on potential "challenges" to optional voting methods.

DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS: All proceeding at a good pace. Paperwork on three different Development Agreements have been finalized, JJ Premier, LLC, RC-N-DI, LLC, and Zelich Customs, LLC. We are in the process of procuring signatures.

MISCELLANEOUS: Still monitoring, daily, developments on the "COVID Front". A temporary restraining order has been placed on the Governor's latest order that limits some indoor gatherings to 25%. That will be challenged as well, in my opinion. The Judge that issued that order is John Yackel who presided in Lincoln County Circuit Court for a brief time.

Budget sessions have started. They have been proceeding pretty smoothly so far.

On a personal note, I'll be having rotator cuff repair surgery in November. Nice way to bring in the Holidays.

City Clerk Report – October 20th, 2020

1. Voter registration forms and absentee ballot requests are increasing as we approach election day. Absentee ballots requested this way are being mailed as soon as possible.
2. The official absentee ballot “drop box” is being used by some voters to return absentee ballots. It is located in front of City Hall, near the flag pole. It is being emptied on a regular basis and those ballots are placed in a secure location within City Hall until election day.
Reminder: That drop box is for City of Merrill voters and ballots only!
3. Early voting at City Hall (Clerk/Treasurer office) is scheduled to begin on Tuesday, October 20th. Hours for early voting are 8:00 until 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday. The hours on Friday, October 30th will be from 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. That is the last day for early voting.
4. The vast majority of my time now is being spent on election-related tasks.
5. Working with IT Manager Brown on I/T matters as necessary.

Administrator's Report 9/23/20 – 10/15/20New Development and Blight elimination

Kortni Wolfe with S.C. Swiderski contacted me twice with updates to let me know that their project on the Fox point property is on track for 2021 construction.

I have attended several meetings with a group of other MADC board members concerning the former Hurd property. We have talked with our attorney several times concerning our position vis-à-vis Merrill Renew Properties and owner Gordy Renn. We appear to be getting closer to resolution of the numerous problems - electric service, water service, access, property cleanup.

Several meetings and phone conversations have been held with Weinbrenner President Jeff Burns. We are expecting a formal purchase agreement in the next couple of weeks. The closing date on the property has now been scheduled for March 1, 2021 with work on the main building beginning at that time. MADC is working on correcting the electrical problems caused by Merrill Renew Properties in the main building. Merrill Renew Properties is finally working to clean out the 17K building, which was supposed to have been completed by October 12 but did not start until then.

The Maintenance orders that Darin Pagel put on the former Hurd property still have not been met to the City's satisfaction and continue to be the responsibility of Merrill Renew Properties. Hopefully, final resolution to this problem will be part of the agreement between MADC and Merrill Renew Properties.

On September 29, I attended the ribbon cutting for Casa Amigos Mexican Restaurant in the former Club 107 location.

On October 1, I met with REI surveyor Josh Prentice at the former Hurd Site to discuss the new Certified Survey Map for the property. We need to combine two parcels into one parcel and move the east boundary of the new parcel to allow Weinbrenner access from the far East gate.

I continued to meet regularly with Bill Bialecki, LCEDC Director, to discuss potential projects in Merrill and Tomahawk.

Construction has begun on the River Bend Trail segment from Highway 64 north to Chippewa St. Peterson has been removing vegetation, grading, and constructing the base for the trail this fall and plan to pave in 2021.

Construction is underway on the River Bend Trail handicap access to the Wisconsin River near the Agra Pavilion and will soon be completed. Once the access is completed we will be constructing fish habitat with boulders in the river in front of the access platform.

Mayor Woellner and I met several times over the last month to discuss various on-going and potential projects, as well as budget items.

At the October 7 City Plan Commission Meeting a home owner with property adjacent to lots 11 and 12 spoke against the project because they believe it would take away their view of the trees presently on the property and they didn't believe they should lose their view just so that new homes could be built. The next day I spoke with Heath Tappe of Denyon Homes regarding the neighbor's desire to not see the trees cut on the lots adjacent to their property. Heath committed to leaving a minimum 30' tree buffer at the rear of the property. However, there is no guarantee of what the purchaser of the new houses will do with the trees.

Jim Jaworski called me a couple of times concerning their first three spec homes he will be building next to Rock Ridge Apartments. They plan to begin work on October 20.

Festival Grounds

Nick and John continue to work on the cattle barn replacing rotted sill plates and siding. The new window frames and covers have been built and are being installed. These were primed prior to installation. I have met with Nick several times on-site as the work progresses.

The Lincoln County Health Department has been conducting several drive-thru flu shot clinics in the Sell Building and will have three more by November 1.

Personnel

Alderman Hass received some information pertaining to limiting employee coverage for chiropractic visits under our health insurance in 2021 from an employee. He called me and I contacted M3. John Preuss, our M3 contact, assured me that there were no changes in coverage from 2020 to 2021. John put me in touch with Brett Davis, Aspirus CEO. Brett explained that the chiropractor had given our employee erroneous information and that coverage is not changing for 2021. Brett offered to call Alderman Hass so I gave him Steve's phone number. Brett called and assured Steve that there are no changes in 2021 coverage and explained where the confusion on the part of the chiropractor originated. M3 was most helpful in clearing up this misunderstanding and this is another example of the fine service we receive from them.

Thus far I have met with Alderman Osness, Russell, Blake, Weix, and Van Lieshout to discuss my performance evaluation, and am waiting to meet with Alderman Hass, Rick, and Sabatke.

Miscellaneous

I had a conference call with CGI Communications, the company that produces the Merrill videos on our website, on September 24. Numerous calls followed the conference call in order to make necessary updates. In 2014 I found this company that produces free videos for cities and then sells sponsorships to local businesses. We presently have three videos on our website - Welcome to Merrill, Quality of Life, and Relocation & Real Estate. Every three years CGI does a free update and our last update was 2017. They provided me with the present scripts for each video and asked me to update them and asked which photos we would like to update. I asked Darin Pagel to get some new drone aerial videos to use. I used Darin's videos to take frame capture photos with a free program that Dustin Brown found for me and they came out very nice. The updated script and photos have now been provided to CGI for inclusion in the updated videos.

COVID-19 Response

We continue to have no issues with masks being worn from individuals entering City Hall.

I have continued sending information and updates to Aldermen and Department Heads on a daily basis. Unfortunately, we have seen a spike in confirmed COVID-19 cases in Lincoln County and throughout Wisconsin. Wisconsin now ranks as the third worst hotspot in the nation according to the CDC.

On September 30 I attended the Situational Update meeting at the County Services Building called by September Murphy. Various entities within Lincoln County were in attendance - Merrill, Tomahawk, Lincoln County, MAPS, Aspirus, Good Samaritan, and others.

Probation & Parole on the second floor of City Hall still have not re-opened for full in-person services and we have no idea when they may do so.

Dept. Head Meeting

With all the budget and special meetings it was decided to not have an October Department Head Meeting.
